SPRINGDALE.

Memorial Day exercises at Bethany Saturday were of a high order of excellence. A large crowd gathered early in the day at the beautiful little wayside church yard, services began at 10 a. m. by singing patriotic airs and appropriate recitations and readings. At 11:30 the line of march was formed and to the strains of a march softly played wended its way to the open. The line was headed by three veterans—Comrades Dadd, Chaplain of the late Croxton Post No. 9; W. H. Sparks of Maysville, and G. M. Drake of Reeterville. The veterans carrying flags, took their stand at the head of the grave of their late comrade—C. C. Degman and Chaplain Dadd gave the Memorial service according to their ritual, after which the line of march, led by Supt. G. W. Cobb, continued on its way around and through the cemetery, as the graves are widely scattered, scattering flowers on each of the twenty "low green tents," now located there. But two of the veterans were able to continue the entire march, as Chaplain Dadd, who is now in his 81st year soon became exhausted and had to seek the shade. All of the Sunday School children and many young men and women including a number of elderly people joined in the march and silently and reverently scattered flowers. A bountiful and delicious dinner was then spread and a two hours social time was enjoyed by the crowd that was being added to by the minute as new arrivals came pouring in, until the house and yard were crowded. The afternoon program consisted of several patriotic addresses by local speakers, recitations and music. An excellent paper on "Christian Patriotism" was read and an interesting exercise to the "Often Neglected Ones," the unknown dead, the sailor soldier dead and the living veterans was given by two women. The unknown dead were remembered by decorating a miniature flag draped casket, the sailor soldier dead by dropping flowers in water, while the veterans were honored with appropriate pledges and flowers which closed the sad, but beautifully impressive services of the day. ALONG THE ROAD.

I walked a mile with Pleasure;
She chattered all the way,
But left me none the wiser
For all she had to say.

I walked a mile with Sorrow
And ne'er a word said she
But, Oh, the things I learned from her
When Sorrow walked with me.

OWENSBORO CITY CLERK SHORT $15,000.

Owensboro, Ky., June 2.—Eugene B. Miller, city clerk of Owensboro, was arrested at 12:45 o'clock last night at the Union station as he was about to leave the city. The finance committee of Council recently completed an examination of Miller's books and it is claimed that they show that about $14,500 is due the city.

CONVICTS ALLOWED TO MAKE $67 A YEAR.

Frankfort, Ky., June 2.—Convicts will be permitted to work after completing their tasks to make the $57 a year each, which they lose by the Appellate Court declaring unconstitutional the convicts' pay law. The night schools will be maintained, although this decision took away their maintenance. The commission thinks the law sending boys under 21, convicted of felonies to penitentiaries instead of the Reform School, is unfortunate.

REDS OF TODAY AND OF TWO YEARS AGO.

(W. A. Phelan in Times Star.)

How strangely similar—up to a few days ago—have been the careers of the 1914 Reds and the Reds of 1912! Their trails ran almost parallel up to a certain point—and at that point the trail divides and the resemblance ceases.

In 1912 the Reds whizzed along with a rush in the early weeks.

In 1914 the Reds whizzed along with a rush in the early weeks.

In 1912 the career of conquest lasted till they met the Giants.

In 1914 the career of conquest lasted till they met the Giants.

In 1912 it was predicted that they would blow up at this juncture.

In 1914 it was predicted that they would blow up at this juncture.

In 1912 they blew up and had a rocky road thereafter.

In 1914 they kept right on kicking the stuffing out of everybody, and are going stronger than before the Giants even showed in the harbor.

The strongest point of the Reds' success is a faculty not possessed by the team in previous years: Ability to meet every possible situation and to put up a many-sided front of battle. Though the season is still young, the Cincinnati club has already demonstrated that it can play great defensive ball when its hitting is baffled by a clever pitcher, and can take advantage of the smallest opportunity to slip a run across while its own pitching will equalize that of the opposition—therefore the team will win its 2-to-1, 3-to-2, and 1-to-0 games.

Mrs. W. Hall Stride, yesterday morning at their home on East Second street entertained the Five Hundred Club. The home was beautifully decorated, the color scheme being pink and white worked out in roses with pleasing background of ferns.

The prize winners were Mrs. A. L. Merz, who won the club prize, Mrs. Clarence Matthews won the guest prize, and Mrs. John B. Chenzault the general prize.

After the prizes were announced, the guests repaired to the dining room where an elegant luncheon was served, the color scheme being charmingly carried out in the icing.

During the luncheon music was rendered on the Victrola.

Proud as you are of the daughter, and proud as she is of graduation honors—there is soon but a memory of such events unless a portrait keeps the record of each milestone of youth.

Our styles of school pictures are appropriate to the occasion.

He authorized his representatives to the mediation conference today to announce to the world that "neither mistaken pride nor personal interest" would prevent his withdrawal when once Mexico is "politically pacified" and the government succeeding his is so constituted that it can count on public opinion in Mexico.

The Mexican delegates revealed that they had been instructed to inform the mediators that General Huerta's personality would not be an obstacle. They also stated in unequivocal terms that the situation in Mexico "was necessarily bound up" in the international questions and that this spirit had actuated them in coming to the mediation conference.
